Blacksmithing: Viking-Style Ironwork Class, Brasstown, NC

John C. Campbell Folk School

One Folk School Road

Brasstown, NC 28902

Kate DeLong, 800-365-5724

info@folkschool.org

Clinician:

Elmer Roush - Elmer began blacksmithing in 1970. He has studied with Peter Ross, William Fiorini, Václav Jaroš, and others. Elmer has taught blacksmithing at the Folk School for over 20 years; has also taught at Southwest Virginia Community College, Touchstone, and Peters Valley; and he was the head instructor and CEO of the Cearta Inneona Blacksmithing School in Ireland. He also served as a monitor at the Haystack Mountain School of Crafts, the resident blacksmith at the Folk School, and a past board member of ABANA. He is currently self-employed as an artist-blacksmith here in Brasstown. A viking-style axe forged by Elmer is pictured below.

Details:

Do you enjoy blacksmithing with a historical perspective? This class will focus on reproducing 10th-century Viking relics, including spearheads, axes, arrowheads, and locks. Drawings and tracings of original pieces will be available as guides. Knowledge of how to build & maintain a forge fire, along with basic blacksmithing and forge-welding skills are needed for this intermediate class.

This is a monthly event beginning at 6PM on the first Tuesday. Farriers are encouraged to nominate "difficult" shoeing cases prior to the event. Two chosen horses are brought in, videoed, radiographed and blocked by an Oakhurst veterinarian. The cases are discussed in a classroom setting among all the farriers and a plan is made. The horses are then re-shod to the plans specifications by the nominating shoer.
